Monthly Growth Report

Adam Murphy

£8,500	37,728	March 2026
Monthly Revenue	Social Following	Report Date

Adam, £8,500. That is a £2,000 jump from last month and your highest month since we started tracking. Following has held steady at just under 38K which tells me you are not chasing vanity growth, you are monetising the audience you already have. Last month I set you six priority actions. Rebuild your DM outreach using the DM Pro Trust Flow structure. Map out your 7-day posting rotation by content pillar. Load your sales call transcripts into Claude and extract the repeating pain points. Complete the DM Pro Trust Flow in full by end of March. Kick off the Accelerator 60 Day Sprint. And hold a standards meeting with your new hormone coach. Some of that has clearly landed because the revenue moved. But I want to know which ones actually got done and which ones got parked, because the ones that got parked are probably the ones that would push you past £10K.

01 · Your Accelerator ROI Assessment - Start Here

Adam, before anything else in this report, I need you to complete the Accelerator ROI Assessment. This is the 25-question diagnostic that scores you across six areas: Social Media and Profile, Content Strategy, Lead Generation, DMs and Conversations, Sales and Pricing, and Client Growth and Retention. At £8,500 a month the assessment gets sharper because your gaps become more specific. You are past the foundation stage, so this is not about whether the basics are in place. It is about which area is costing you the most revenue right now.

Based on what you have told me this month, I already know where you are likely going to score lowest. Your Lead Generation score is going to highlight the gap between launch-driven revenue and evergreen pipeline revenue. Your DMs and Conversations score is going to show whether you are actually converting those three polls a week into booked calls or just collecting votes. Complete the assessment this week, save your 30 day action plan as a PDF, and use the results to prioritise which section of this report to attack first.

02 · £6,500 to £8,500 - What Drove It and Why It Is Not Enough

You mentioned a client intake launch this month alongside nurturing leads and running three polls a week. That intake launch is clearly what pushed the numbers. The question I have for you is whether you can sustain this without needing a launch every single month. Launches are brilliant for spikes but they are exhausting if they become your only growth lever. What you need alongside that launch energy is an evergreen pipeline that brings in one or two clients a month without you having to announce anything.

Your polls are smart. Three a week means you are constantly opening doors for conversations. But what happens after the poll? Are you DMing every single person who responds? Are you segmenting the warm ones from the ones who are just tapping for fun? The poll is not the strategy, Adam. The follow up is the strategy. The poll just opens the door. This is exactly what the Accelerator ROI Assessment measures under DMs and Conversations. If you are not starting 5 or more new DM conversations per day from your content, you are leaving money on a table that already has 37,000 people sat around it.

The Personal Brand SS covers this in the DM Biased Story Interactions module. Your stories should not just be content, Adam. Every story you post should be engineered to start a DM. Polls, question boxes, sliders - all of them are conversation openers and the Personal Brand SS walks you through exactly how to set that up so your stories become a daily lead generation tool not just something you post and hope for the best.

Inside the Accelerator Drive, SOP 15 Lead Management Sheets gives you a tracking system for exactly this. Eight column tracking, colour coded pipeline stages, weekly reviews. How many polls ran, how many DMs sent from poll responses, how many of those became calls. When you can put numbers on each stage, you stop guessing and start scaling. And SOP 11 Simple DM Script and FUP Messages gives you the copy-paste scripts for cold outreach, warm follow ups, and call booking transitions so you are not reinventing the wheel every time you open a DM.

03 · Content - Systematise It with Claude Project 01

You said your focus is on engaging and emotion triggering daily content. That is exactly the kind of content that moves people from scrolling to stopping. But daily content without a system behind it will burn you out within six weeks. Last month I asked you to map out a 7-day posting rotation by content pillar. If that got done, keep refining it. If it did not, this is the week it happens.

The Accelerator ROI Assessment asks whether you are using the 50/50 content split, half pain-point content and half personal brand content. It also asks whether you are using AI tools to speed up creation and whether your posts include strong hooks and clear calls to action. If you score low on any of those, the fix is Claude Project 01, Content Strategy Calendar. This project plans your monthly themes, weekly content calendar, and daily posting rotation. Load your brand context, your voice, your audience pain points in, and it maps the entire system for you. No more waking up wondering what to post.

You also mentioned wanting more BTS footage and starting long form content on YouTube. At 37,728 followers that is a strong move. But do not start YouTube until Instagram is systematised. When you are ready, Claude Project 07 is YouTube Content Scripts. It writes full scripts with timestamps, titles, and descriptions. And Claude Project 08, Content Repurposing Engine, takes every Instagram post and turns it into YouTube material, email content, and story prompts without you creating from scratch.

04 · Lead Generation - The Evergreen Pipeline You Do Not Have Yet

You said you still need to figure out a structure to keep leads coming in and a strategy to get more eyes on your page. This is the gap, Adam. The Accelerator ROI Assessment under Lead Generation asks four specific questions. Do you have a lead magnet capturing email addresses? Do you have an email system with automated delivery and a welcome sequence? Are you following up with every lead who engages with you? And how many discovery calls are you booking per week from social media?

Right now your lead generation is launch-dependent. When you launch, revenue spikes. When you do not, it flatlines. You need three things running at all times. One, content with clear CTAs that drive DMs every day. Two, stories with polls and question boxes that start conversations. Three, at least one active lead magnet collecting emails from people who are not ready to buy yet but will be in 30 to 60 days.

Claude Project 04 is Lead Magnets and Opt-In. It builds checklists, guides, and downloadable resources tailored to your audience. Get one live this month. Then Claude Project 03, Email Marketing Sequences, builds the welcome sequence, nurture campaign, and ongoing email system that keeps those leads warm until they are ready to buy. Inside the Accelerator Drive, SOP 10 Client Case Study Story Post shows you how to turn client results into Instagram story sequences that generate DM conversations. And SOP 14 Lead Magnet Launch and Promotion gives you a 7-day launch sequence to drive 50 to 200 plus downloads from a single lead magnet.

05 · Paid Ads - DM Me on Skool

You asked about AI helping you set up a paid ads campaign. Before we go anywhere near that, message me directly on Skool DM and let us have a conversation about whether it is the right time for you to be looking at this. Paid ads can accelerate everything when the foundation is there, but they can also burn cash fast when it is not. I want to look at your numbers with you first.

In the meantime, go through the Paid Ads SS inside Skool so you actually understand how that system works, what the expectations are, and what needs to be in place before you switch it on. That way when we talk about it, you are coming from a place of knowledge not guesswork.

06 · Claude for Client Delivery - You Are Ahead of Most

You said you are using Claude to help generate individual feedback, goal setting, and meal managing for your clients. Adam, this is one of the smartest things anyone in the programme is doing right now. Most coaches at your level are still doing every check-in manually, spending hours writing feedback that could be drafted in minutes.

The Claude Project you want to go deeper with is Project 15, Client Reporting and Results. It automates check-in assessments, progress summaries, and feedback drafts. You review the output, add your personal touch, and send it. That turns an hour per client into fifteen minutes. Pair it with Project 14, Coaching Session Prep Notes, which builds session agendas, questions, and follow up summaries. Together, these two projects handle the operational side of delivery so you can spend your time on the human side.

The Accelerator ROI Assessment under Client Growth and Retention asks whether you are tracking leads, pipeline, and revenue in a system, and whether you have clear income targets with reverse-engineered daily actions. Claude Project 18, KPI Business Reporting, builds that tracking system for you. Metrics analysis, performance reports, trend spotting.

07 · The Client Meet-Up - Document Everything

You mentioned booking a client meet-up next week. You mentioned this last month as well for April, so I am glad it is actually happening. A client meet-up is one of the most powerful retention tools you have. When your clients meet each other in person, they stop being your client individually and start being part of your community.

The Accelerator ROI Assessment under Client Growth and Retention asks whether you are creating and posting client case study content that converts viewers into buyers. The meet-up is where you capture that content. Film it. Photograph it. Get testimonials on the day. The Personal Brand SS Social Proof and Authority module shows you how to structure that content so it does not just look nice but actually converts. Client results are the most powerful content you will ever post but only when they are structured properly. Then use Claude Project 08, Content Repurposing Engine, to turn that one event into a week of social proof across every platform. SOP 09 Referral and Result Generator inside the Accelerator Drive gives you a referral system using a 24-hour request window and end-of-month campaigns to get existing clients sending you new paying clients. And SOP 10 Client Case Study Story Post turns those results into Instagram story sequences that convert.

08 · Confidence and Direction - Recognise the Shift

Last month you told me your confidence had taken a significant hit over the previous six months. You said you felt lost, unsure where to focus your time and energy, and that you were showing up but not seeing traction. This month you are at £8,500, running a client intake launch, using Claude for client delivery, doing collab content with your partner, and planning a community meet-up. That is not the same person.

I want you to recognise that shift because the temptation when you are growing is to immediately move the goalposts and forget how far you have come. The confidence is growing but the systems are not there yet to sustain it. That is exactly why the three core systems exist. The Personal Brand SS gives you the identity and positioning framework so you know exactly who you are, what you stand for, and how to communicate that daily. The Accelerator gives you the operational SOPs to execute on. And the Claude Projects give you the AI tools to do it all at speed. Those three together are the machine, Adam. Complete the ROI Assessment, work through the Personal Brand SS modules in order, and use the Claude Projects to execute. Trust the systems. Attack the lowest score first.

Final Word

Adam, six months ago your confidence was on the floor and you did not know where to focus. Now you are at your highest ever revenue, running intake launches, using Claude for client delivery, collaborating with your partner on content, and planning a community meet-up. That is a completely different person from the one who submitted last month. But I know you are not satisfied with it and honestly you should not be. You have got 37,000 people watching you. You have got a hormone coach on the team. The pieces are all there. The Accelerator ROI Assessment will show you which piece is the weakest. The Claude Projects will build the systems to fix it. And the Skool training will teach you the strategy behind it. This month is about building the machine that generates revenue whether you launch or not. Do that, and £10K is not a target. It is inevitable. Personal Brand SS for the strategy and positioning. Accelerator Drive for the SOPs and execution frameworks. Claude Projects for the AI speed. Those three systems working together is how you build a business that does not depend on you having a good week. I will see you in the next report. Let us make it a five-figure month.
